CRICAGO, May 19.—The wheat market took an up ward swiri about an hour from the close on a re-port that France will not impose the duty on wheat until next October. Final figures were to higher for May and July 1% stronger and % better for Sep-tember. Corn was strong to begin with and much stronger a little later, netting a gain of %6%c. Oats ed corn, but closed unchanged. Provisions wheat got to call price to-day, but closed under the top. It was a short market, puts having been good for several days. The best advance was in the last hour on cable advices from Paris that the remission of the wheat tariff might be extended to October I, the chambers of commerce having petitioned for that action. Liverpool cables showed a decline for the day from %d to 2d a cental. The Continental markets were taking a holiday. There was a continuance of favorables weather in the West. The Price Current was rather bearish. Joseph Leiter had a bid to-day for another heavy line of wheat from the same people to whom he sold 2,000,000 bushels for shipment to France about two weeks ago. Chicago receipts were smaller—237 cars, against 11 last year. Minneapolis and Duluth received 37 cars, compared with 485 cars the year before. The total of the domestic receipts at primary Western markets was again surprisingly heavy, compared with those of last year, to-day's being 1,111,000 bushels and last year's 474,000 bushels. Atlantic port clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 322,000 bushels smanating from St. Louis that complaints of rust wheat was being received from northern sections of Missouri, and of course, as the bearish local sentiment was based almost entirely on the unblemished reputation of the coming crop, shorts took fright immediately upon the shadow of suspicion being cast upon it. July had sold down to $1.05%, and September beexing the flagher, at $5%, advanced to $8%, coff to $5%, callied to $9,600 and reacted to $8%, and alwanced to $1.55 and avanced to $8%, coff to $5%, callied to $1.55 and avanced to $8%, coff to $5%, callied to $1.55 and avanced to $8%, coff to $5%, callied to $1.55 and avanced to $8%, coff to $5%, callied to $1.55 and avanced to $8%, coff to $5%, callied to $1.55 and avanced to $1.50 and avanced to $1.50 and avanced to $1.50 and avanced to $1.50 and avan July opened %c higher, at 35%c, advanced to 36%c, declined to 15%c and closed at 35%g35%c.

Oats merely followed corn—off early, but firmer at the close. The cash demand was slack. Receipts, 332 cars. July opened %c higher, at 26%c, sold up. 38%g35%c. declined to 3%c and closed at 266%c%c.

The provision crowd traded on the theory that there was selling by the packing houses. Everything averaged a little lower, although the market was somewhat irregular. Hogs are up 5c. Receipts, 42, -009. July pork opened, 7%c lower, at $12.20, advanced to 312.30, declined to 312.00 and railied to 312.10 at the close. July lard was 5c off at the opening, rose to 38.32%g8.65, sold back to 36.47% and closed at 36.47%g6.65. July ribs began 2%c lower, at 36.37%, declined to 36.17%, then up to 36.22% at the close.

Estimated receipts to-morrow: Wheat, 200 cars; corn, 500 cars; oats, 230 cars; hogs, 32,000.

A Broomhall cable reads: The Hungarian indicated wheat yield is 124,000,000 bushels, against 88,000,000 bushels in 1897. The average of previous years is 148,000,000 bushels. The area this year is 1,000,000 acres short.

Yesterday's clearances for export at the four Atlantic ports were 123,000 bushels of wheat, 12,000 packages of flour, 523,000 bushels of corn, 101,000 bushels of cats and 171,000 bushels of rye. Total wheat and flour clearances amount to 353,800 bushels and corn accessed bushels.

Sour clearances amount to so, so business and corn see, soo business.

Yesterday's Cincinnati Price Current says in its weekly crop summary: The winter and spring wheat crop outlook is maintained or bettered. Old grain will practically all pass out of competition with the new. The corn crop is still retarded and considerable replanting is required.

Conspicuous Advances but No Special Improvement.

At the banks there was nothing new yesterday. General business was borrowing but little, but a very good demand continues to be had on cattle paper and rediscounts from the country. The general situation is fairly satisfactory. Most of the banks have pretty good loans, and, while accepting all desirable paper, yet are inclined to bursue a conservative policy, as harvest is fast approaching, and it promises to be a big one. Stocks and Bonds.

NEW YORK, May 13.—No great success attended any effort to awaken speculative interest in stocks to-day. There was, in fact, no very vigorous effort to do so, the powerful influences in the market being apparently content to rest on their cars and wait for more definite information of the operations of the opposing fleets in West Indian waters. The measures taken by the government to shut off all information on this subject have apparently proved entirely successful, and Wall street was completely in the dark. Even rumors on the subject, which are likely to prove plentiful in such circumstances, were not forthcoming, and the market was, consequently, dull. There were a number of conspicuous advances during the day, but they were by no means uniform, nor were they simultaneous. First one stock and then another seemed to be the object of some special demand, but these isolated movements had very little influence on the general list. Sugar was the most prominent of such stocks, and advanced suddenly about 2 points after a period of early hesitation. Tobacco also had its period of strength. Rock Island continued to lead the grangers, and rose at one time to 102, the highest point on the present movement. The grangers were also quite strong, though the volume of dealings was below that of the last few days. Later in the day Manhattan enjoyed a period of strength and activity. This kind of demand seemed to have exhausted itself late in the day, and the semi-stagnation which ensued encouraged the bears to make a desultory attack on prices, which yielded all around, in some cases nearly a point, making the close easy at a level considerably below the highest, but with notable net gains still remaining for many prominent stocks. A feature of the trading was the way in which stocks which have lain dormant for some time were awakened in movement, and in almost all cases this movement was sharply upward. There was also a considerably below the highest, but with notable net gains still remaining for many p

Dry Goods. Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, May 19.—The dry goods market is subject to strengthening conditions in the advances which have been made in staple cottons, mainly due to stock conditions and not to any vast improvement in the demand. Staple cottons have strengthened by increases in condition and not to any vast improvement in the demand. Staple cottons have strengthened by increases in the price of both wide and brown sheetings. Operations along this line continue active and at better prices. Drills are in nearly as good shape as sheetings. Ducks and osnaburgs have also shown some improvement. Bleached cottons are quiet and without feature. They are probably the weakest division in the market. Coarse colored goods show no change of moment. The print cloth market is still strong. Prints are dull and uninteresting.

HOW TO DUST FURNITURE.

Feather Duster Should Not Be Used, for There Are Better

Dust is always a grief of mind to the careful housewife, who, like the virtuous woman of holy writ, looketh well to the careful housewife, who, like the virtuous woman of holy writ, looketh well to the ways of her husband.

It hath all seasons for its own, and the only way to conquer it is to pursue it steadilly. A feather duster is an abomination, except for the tops of pictures, etc., since it only stirs up the dust from one spot in order to allow it to settle on another, while wiping with a damp cloth, which in any but judicious hands is apt to be a wet one, is too apt to smear the furniture. All furniture should be dusted regularly with dus regard to the corners, where most of the dust accumulates.

The best thing for carved furniture is a soft, thick paint brush, which will get into all the interstices of the pattern. When these are clogged take another brush, wet with kerosene oil, to clean them out. After using the oil rub dry with a soft cloth. Flannelette makes the best dust cloths, and squares of it are now sold ready hemmed for the purpose in our large stores.

For highly-polished surfaces use chamois clean. It can be washed with very little trouble, only be sure to keep your chamois clean. It can be sure to keep your chamois clean. It can be sure to keep your chamois clean. It can be washed with very little trouble, only be sure to hang it up carefully to dry, wringing well, and then putting it into shape. The bamboo beater is the best thing for rugs and portieres, but it is useless to beat unholstered furniture. A stiff whisk broom should be used, and all crevices should be well brushed out and the lint and dust brushed off after this is done. It is wonderful how much dust a tufted chair can hold—no wonder maid and mistress alike wonder where the dust comes from, for summer, winter, whether it blows in at open windows or sitts up through furnace flues, like the grass of the poem, it comes "creeping everywhere." and finds a lodgment in every inch of space exposed.

They should be taken from the shelves at least once or twice a month and wiped with a soft, dry cloth, which should be shaken out of the window repeatedly during the work of dusting. Remember always that in brushing dust from an object you scatter it, but wiping it off with a cloth you gather it up and remove it altogether. it altogether.

To Dispel the Fog.

Tro Dispel the Fog.

From the Philadeiphia Inquirer.

The latest invention is a fog dispeller. The apparatus consists of a horizontal outlook pipe eight feet in length and eight inches in diameter. At the mouth of the tube is a wide fiange; the rear end is covered with a thick disc of glass. About two feet from the rear end a pipe enters the tube from below, at an obtuse angle with the forward section.

This connection is made through a sort of turntable, which permits the outlook tube to be pointed in any direction desired, up or down, from one side to the other. The pipe below connects with a blower down in the vessel.

When the dispeller is in use, the blower sends a powerful stream of air up through the pipe into the tube, and the current hurtles into the fog, boring a hole through it, as it were.

The action of the suspended moisture is twofold. The fog is rolled back in every direction, the high pressure of the blast produces a cooling influence, the moisture in suspension condenses and falls in rain. A great cone of clear atmosphere, with its apex at the mouth of the tube, results. The eye of the pilot is at the glass at the rear of the tubs, and he gazes into the bowels of the fog. With its aid a pilot can readily pick up his buoys in a fog, and keep an eye out for vessels ahead.

With a powerful blower, the inventor hopes to make the fog-dispeller useful at 1,000 feet.

No claim is made that the dispeller would be practical except when the vessel is going at a slow rate of speed, which is customary when there is foggy weather.
